Calculator LS-12PC 12 digits PC connection result send function

Canon LS-12PC calculator Grey:

The LS-12PC connects directly to a desktop or laptop via USB cable. It can then be used as a keypad – a more efficient alternative to using the PC to do calculations, and to enter complicated formulae in some applications. The calculator has a 12 digit capacity, while a liquid crystal display behind an acrylic window offers high visibility readouts. There are separate tax calculation keys and separate 0 and 00 keys.

Slim and lightweight, the LS-12PC is completely portable and its metallic silver body is designed to match most laptop and desktop colours.
